

Fall, 2012

2012 was been a year of exciting change leading into what will be an exciting 2013! Jeff has returned to California year-around, accepting a job as an anchor and update reporter at XX1090 AM, the top sports radio station in San Diego and the flagship station of the San Diego Padres. After years of working hard in the minor leagues, Jeff now works on the Padres pre-game and post-game shows and does score updates during the games.

Shortly after starting at XX1090, Jeff was asked to return to television as a feature producer and reporter for Fox Sports San Diego. He does stories on the Padres popular magazine shows Padres Weekly and Padres POV. Jeff's very first story on Fox Sports San Diego found him at Sea World with Padres players as they swam with dolphins.

Jeff is thrilled to be settling into San Diego and to be working in both radio and television in such a great media market.